Complaint: street-roaming kids are out of control

BY GENE ANTONIO

BELLE GLADE

Commissioner Daniel Bythwood says two problems on the streets of Belle Glade "are getting out of hand."

The commissioner wants something done about drinking on the streets in certain areas of the city. He also wants young children off the streets by at least 11 p.m.

Bythwood sees the two problems related. He says he has received complaints about children throwing beer and liquor bottles at passing cars.

He said, "Where there are 30 children on a street corner something is going to happen."

The children, according to Bythwood, "are seven and eight years old and are on the street until two in the morning."

Without being specific as to how the two problems can be addressed, the commissioner said, "Something can be done."

Mayor Thomas Altman said he too is concerned with the problems on the street. He also said, "No government, city or county, can legislate common decent behavior."

The mayor added that using enforcement policies is not the answer either. Altman said, "The police have so many handcuffs on what they can do as it is."

Police Chief Michael Miller told the commission that currently the city has no ordinances restricting public drinking.

The chief indicated that cities which have tried to institute drinking laws have run into "tons of trouble" trying to enforce them.

The question of children on the streets also brought cautious replies from the chief and the mayor.

Miller noted that curfew laws are difficult to enforce. He said, "It has to be a blatant violation."

He commented that if a child is anywhere near his residence "it's hard to enforce."

Bythwood said the police should pick up children and bring them to their parents.

He noted, "If you pick them up enough times the parents will look into it."

Bythwood invited commissioners to "take a ride around the city and see the amount of kids on the street." He said, "They're not going anywhere or doing anything."

The mayor said, "I've taken rides for years. We all know the problems."

Bythwood believes many parents might not fully realize the extent of the problem of children on the streets.

He said, "Let's tell them what they're doing isn't right. It's not simple, but we can do something."

Bythwood stopped short of calling for an ordinance to address his concerns. He did indicate, though, that other cities in Florida have laws to deal with similar problems on the streets.

Chief Miller said his department will "continue to look into the problem."

He pointed out that in a recent sweep of the city for drugs, seven juveniles were picked up by police.

THE HOUSE was moved into position on a lot on 9th Street near Avenue D. The house had been vacant in Pahokee for three years. It was donated to NOAH to help with the housing shortage in Belle Glade.

NOAH gets house from Pahokee

BELLE GLADE—A modular duplex, which will soon be rented to two families, was moved into the city last week from Pahokee.

The house had sat vacant in Pahokee for over two years. Recently NOAH (Neighbors Organized for Adequate Housing) arranged to have the house moved here to alleviate the housing shortage.

The house was bought from the county for $1 on the condition that NOAH would raise funds to move the house to Belle Glade.

Ambulance service told to meet obligations or else

BELLE GLADE—

The Ambulance Service at Glades General Hospital was told Tuesday to "pack up and leave" by the next morning if they won't "meet their obligations."

That was the word Hospital Administrator Pat Lennan gave to the drivers. He told them to be out of the ambulance business at Glades General if they continued to demand payment in advance for transferring patients to other hospitals. Lennan contends it is in the ambulance service contract to take patients to other hospitals if they cannot receive services or tests at Glades. But the ambulance drivers, according to Lennan, want paid for the runs. And they want paid without delay. Lennan told the hospital board, "They want guaranteed payment from some source."

If the ambulance drivers leave, the hospital might be back to basic life support services.

The administrator blamed the ambulance drivers. He said, "They've backed the taxpayers up against the wall."

He added, "It's a countywide problem."

Lennan noted that the drivers are subsided by the county and are not living up to their end of the agreement. Drivers have transferred patients as far away as Gainesville for tests not available in this area. It is trips such as these they are seeking payment.

Lennan could not say what he would do about ambulance service if the drivers should leave. He said, "We have an obligation Continued on 2

Summer classes offered for adults

BY GENE ANTONIO

BELLE GLADE—Although response to the summer classes offered at Glades Central Community High School has proved minimal, the program's administrator remains optimistic.

Assistant Principal Reginald Murray, in his first year at the helm of the summer classes, says "We can't give up on them."

He believes the problem encountered in attracting large numbers of adults to classes at the high school is twofold.

Most critical, the community is not aware of what the school has to offer.

Murray is working to combat this through a public awareness campaign. So far this year he has sent letters to local clubs and organizations, businesses and other groups.

He hopes to let people know that the philosophy behind adult education has changed in the past few years.

This problem of the public's misconceptions about adult education is an important one. Murray, who previously worked in adult education counseling at Glades Central, notes that the concept of adult education changed in the late 1960s and early 1970s.

An outgrowth of educational ideas begun in Michigan, adult education now aims at enrichment, often with an emphasis on recreation and leisure.

That's not to say the more traditional course work has gone by the boards. Students at Glades Central can still study for their GED or learn English as a second language.

But more and more courses such as ceramics, computer literacy, oil painting, dramatic acting, guitar and cooking are becoming increasingly popular.

Avenue D. It will be rented to two families whose names are on a waiting list for houses in the city.

NOAH has been involved with finding adequate housing in Belle Glade for some time. This is the second house they've moved.

Earlier this year NOAH learned that the First Baptist Church planned to tear down its parsonage.

Instead of that, the parsonage was donated to NOAH which moved it. That house is now being rented.

NOAH spokesperson Elizabeth Farrar explains that NOAH plans to work toward the building of housing units on an eight acre tract.

Farrar said, "We're now negotiating for eight acres for low cost housing."

She says that some of those wishing to purchase the proposed units could help with the construction if they have building skills.

The NOAH plan is to "help people help themselves" to get adequate housing. Farrar comments. It is modeled after a system used elsewhere called "Habitat for Humanity."

The house, moved in two parts last week, was a model for a 36-unit complex in Pahokee.

Because of financing problems the house sat vacant for years. NOAH learned about the house and decided to try to get it for Belle Glade.

Local contractor Alvis Davis moved the house. He came down Route 715 and onto the lot. The house was moved in two parts.

Davis said there were no problems in moving the house. He noted that the parsonage, which he also moved, "weighed four times as much as this house."

The house will be set up and utilities will be installed soon. After that it will be rented to two families. The house will be converted into a two bedroom and three bedroom apartments.

ALVIS DAVIS, who supervised the final position. move to Belle Glade, surveys the

to provide hospital care, not ambulance care.

The ambulance news came at the scheduled

Hospital Board meeting Tuesday. But the meeting was cancelled for lack of a quorum. The next meeting will be held sometime in August. But board members could not agree on when it will be held. They cannot determine whether they will have a quorum.

Board President Don Tanner expressed concern that financial obligations and certain documents should not be left hanging for two months.

The board hopes new members being added will give a quorum to the next meeting.

The minutes and other data from the previous meeting were not available for the board's review.

In the "information session" the board learned collections are up 22 percent ahead of last year. For May of this year the hospital is $200,000 ahead of last May.

MOVING DAY for this half a house taken from Pahokee to Belle Glade went without a hitch. The house was moved down Route 715. Directing operations from the rooftop is local contractor Alvis Davis.

this summer several had to be cancelled because of a lack of response. At least 15 students must enroll for a course to have it on the schedule.

This summer students are studying ballet, ceramics, handgun safety, computer literacy and the more traditional courses at the school.

Dropped were courses in Oriental cooking, oil painting, dramatic acting, wrestling and conversational Spanish.

But Murray isn't discouraged. He says, "We're experimenting." He would like to see "a needs assessment program" to determine the educational needs of the community.

He notes, "We're a community school and we want to get the community involved."

Presently, the administrator says, "The community isn't aware of what we can offer."

Glades Central offers the courses on a non-profit basis. Most cost less than $25, plus any needed materials.

Teachers are recruited from the community. For example, the ceramics instructor has worked in her craft for many years.

One course which has proved popular is the preparation for college enrollment class.

Held for the first time last spring term, 100 students from Glades Central, Glades Day and Glades Christian schools signed up.

That course will be repeated in the fall term, which begins in September.

Until then, Murray continues to think of ways to get the message to the community. He also tries to assess the needs and desires.

For next term he's thinking about courses in stained glass window making, weightlifting, dramatic acting and the Oriental cooking class might be offered.

Murray comments, "We're not giving up. We want the community to know we're here to help."

Beer wholesaler announces expansion

John Hendrick, General Manager for the Sebring and Belle Glade divisions of Bernie Little Distributors, Inc., announced today that construction has begun on a $750,000 distribution facility in Highlands Industrial Park of Sebring, Florida.

The 22,000 square foot environmentally controlled facility is slated for completion in November of 1985 and will serve Okeechobee, Highlands and Hardee counties. Bernie Little Distributors, Inc., is the largest geographic wholesaler in the state, currently servicing twelve counties in Central Florida.

Hendrick also stated that twelve people will be employed to distribute the Anheuser-Busch products to over 300 retail accounts. These products account for an approximate, 50% market share of all retail beer sales.

Church burglar picked from lineup

BELLE GLADE—A 21-year-old man was charged with burglarizing Community United Methodist Church after he was identified in a photographic lineup.

Jerry Lee Jones, no known address, was charged with burglarizing the SW 1st Street church. An eyewitness positively identified Jones as the person he had seen at the church. The witness gave a description to police. It matched that of Jones. Following a photographic line police arrested the suspect.

Police add 2 more names to vice list

BELLE GLADE—City police added two more names to the list of those arrested in the city's crack down on vice and drug-related activity.

Last week police swept through an area of the city and nabbed over 30 people on charges related to vice. They also picked up seven juveniles on curfew violations.

Police report their sweep has netted two more arrests, both on drug charges.

Wilbert Mathews, 30, of SW Avenue E and Delroy Beckford, 30, of SW 3rd Street, were charged with the sale of marijuana.

Mathews faces one count of the sale of the drug. Bond was set at $1,000.

Beckford was charged with two counts of sale of marijuana and one count of possession of under 20 grams of the weed.

Both were arrested near the intersection of SW 5th Street and SW Avenue B.

Legion expresses satisfaction with Katie Holcomb benefit

BELLE GLADE—Katie Holcomb Day was a success.

BELLE GLADE—This week Katie Holcomb and her family are offering their thanks to the local American Legion Post, the auxiliary and the people of Belle Glade.

Sunday was "Katie Holcomb Day" and everyone is calling the effort to raise money for stroke-victim Katie Holcomb a big success.

American Legion Post 20 has for some months been putting its talents and heart into helping Katie, who has had more than one stroke recently.

Their efforts were capped off Sunday when a dinner to raise funds at the American Legion drew the support of the community.

The funds will go toward the purchase of an electric wheelchair for the woman.

Earlier this year a ramp was built by Floyd Smith, a local general contractor. Junior Meadows helped with the ramp.

Sunday's benefit brought out volunteers to help make the day a success.

Music was donated by the Brownells. The shop Flower Basket donated a tree plant and an afghan was made by Dorothy Widdins to be given away.

A television was donated by White's TV. Other local merchants donated a number of door prizes.

After the daylong serving of dinner Katie Holcomb's family expressed their gratitude.

One family member said, "We don't know where to begin or who to thank first. We'd like to thank everybody—the auxiliary and all the people, just for caring and for all their help."

Sugar Co-op presents service awards

BELLE GLADE—Five, ten and 20 year pins were presented to some of the employees of Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida last Tuesday.

Three men from

Glades Sugar House were presented 20 years pins by Company President George Wedgworth. Arcadio Camman, Obijah Lynch and Emilio S. Goitia were presented pins for having worked for the company for 20 years or more.

Camman is a water treatment attendant and has worked for Glades Sugar House since November, 1964.

Lynch is a mechanic first class during the off season and a foreman during season. Goitia is a machinist first class.

Couple injured in SR 80 auto crash

PAHOKEE—A Belle Glade couple was injured this week in an accident on State Road 80.

Enrico Tomeau and his wife Rita of Belle Glade were taken to Good Samaritan Hospital where Mrs. Tomeau was listed in stable condition. The husband was in good condition.

The Florida Highway Patrol said the four-vehicle accident occurred when a Clewiston man swerved into the opposite lane.

He reportedly sideswiped two cars and hit Tomeau's car head-on.

The Clewiston man, Jeremiah Bennett, was in the intensive care unit at Glades General Hospital following the accident.

The accident happened Sunday about 2 a.m. No charges have been filed.

Man arrested in sexual battery of 9 year old girl

BELLE GLADE—A city man was placed in the Palm Beach County Jail this week with no bail after being arrested for sexual battery of a nine-year-old child.

City police say Daryl

Johnson, 19, of NW 12th Drive, had been dating the child's mother.

Sunday, while at the mother's residence, he asked the victim's mother to go to the store for him.

While she was gone, police say Johnson sexually assaulted the girl. At that point Johnson heard the child's grandmother in the next room.

When the grandmother saw him he fled from the scene.

When the suspect was found he confessed to Detective W.P. Kennedy.

The child received minor injuries but did not require hospitalization.

Black Gold appointments made

BELLE GLADE—The City Commission has made a number of appointments to the Black Gold Jubilee Committee.

Appointed to serve until 1989 are Larry Swandus, Debbie Dean and Crate P. Tucker.

Diane Carter and Olga Hayes were reappointed.

Diane Seider replaces Mary L. Rainey. She will serve until 1988.

Appointed to serve until 1987 are Brenda Bunting, replacing Dan Brown; Shelly Miller, replacing Gordon Corbin and Bill Lee, replacing Betty Herring.

Serving until 1986 are Nick Kiesnick, Marina Director as voting delegates to the Committee.

ing Bob Carlson.

The commissioners also plan to amend the Black Gold Resolution to place the Chief of Police and the Marina Director as voting delegates to the Committee.

2 charged in TV theft

BELLE GLADE—Police have charged two city men with grand theft in connection with a television set reported stolen.

Arrested last week were Willie Latimore, 28, of SW Avenue B Place and Lenoria Jones, 40, of SW Avenue B Place.

According to city police, the two had in their possession a TV set reported stolen by Charlie Cato, also of Avenue B Place.

Working on drug smugglers, large and small

Lawmen in western Palm Beach County and in Hendry County have garnered their share of headlines recently with their roundup of drug peddlers, large and small.

'Drugs will not be tolerated in Hendry County, whether they come from the street dealer or the big time smuggler.'

That quote is from Hendry County Sheriff Sermon Dyess and it comes following the arrest of four men and the seizure of more than 1,000 pounds of cocaine last week. The seizure, made in conjunction with the Drug Enforcement Administration and the Palm Beach Sheriff's Department, is reportedly the largest in Hendry County history.

The cocaine would have had a street value of about $50 million.

In the meantime, city policemen in Belle Glade rounded up 12 persons on vice and drug charges Saturday, June 1. Belle Glade policeman arrested 12 more persons June 15, following a concentrated sweep in the southwest section of the city.

The sheriff's departments in both Hendry and Palm Beach Counties, the Drug Enforcement Administration, and Chief Michael Miller and his police officers deserve our congratulations and appreciation.

Interdiction of drug operations is a risky, dangerous business for lawmen. It pleases us to see that these operations were carried out in such an efficient manner.

It's important to attack the problem from both ends.

In his own way, the small time criminal who peddles drugs in back alleys is as insidious and dangerous as the pilot who flies drugs into this country for nine years.

Both do an enormous amount of harm to the moral fabric of society, to say nothing of the suffering of the persons who become addicted to drugs.

The current law enforcement emphasis is well placed. Keep up the good work!

Haitians shouldn't be singled out

Editor:

Regarding the recent "marriage for business" media coverage, I would like to share the following:

1) My concern for discrimination of arresting Haitian People when the media did say other groups are also involved in this behavior.

2) Are the partners in the "marriage for business" guilty of any wrong? From the names of people guilty of marrying, all seemed to be Haitian. What about the people the Haitians married?

3) The reasons given for the behaviour seemed to indicate the Haitians were looking for "hand-outs(welfare)". The media seemed to link food stamps and AFDC and Workers Compensation in the same category. Workers Compensation to the best of my knowledge can only be obtained if one is injured on a job and those who qualify may obtain the benefits. The monies in this fund are withheld from wages and are employer funded and seem to me to be similar to an insurance Policy as well as benefits received from Unemployment. It has been my experience that if jobs are available, Haitian People desire to work. The marrying for business enables this security and allows for a degree of self-determination. This has been the dream of most Immigrant Peoples.

4) Haitian people I know are family concerned. Obtaining a green card enables the ability to visit, loved ones in Haiti and then return to the United States.

5) Obtaining a green card enables the Haitian People and all those who share their same circumstances a share in the American Dream of work, family unification and the possibility of self-determination.

Living in Belle Glade I have come to value the universal gift each of us can be to one another. Belle Glade's rich "Black Gold" is made truly rich by the beauty of its people. The richness lies in people not in the soil. Belle Glade is truly a unique city in that it has so many ethnic groups and all of us share in the common desire to make our city a good place to live. The recent negative coverage of "marrying for business", AIDS, drug raids, housing conditions must never lessen the respect due to each person to be respected for who they are. Respectfully, Patricia Downs

Letters

Media gives city bum rap

Dear Editor:

Over the past few weeks I have accumulated quite a file of new articles and cartoons about Belle Glade and the reported cases of the disease labeled by the U.S. Department of Health Services as AIDS. According to statistics Palm Beach County has eighty seven (87) cases, with thirty seven (37) cases in the Glades area, Western Palm Beach County.

If the statistics are real this leaves 50 cases of AIDS in Eastern Palm Beach County, that is being overlooked by the news media while they point the finger at Belle Glade by remarks and cartoons and pictures of the most dilapidated houses in the area, some of which can be found in any city in the Nation.

These articles, pictures and cartoons have all been done under what is termed "freedom of the press". The persons with the stroke of the pen or typewriter keys are being legally allowed to hurt and destroy innocent people and the community where they live. Belle Glade has been under attack by the news media for many years on one subject or another.

I would like to set the record straight...Belle Glade and the Western section of Palm Beach County is the backbone of the County. Its resources in Agriculture, beef cattle, sod farms, sugar cane, the second largest fresh water lake within the continental United States, provides the water for the east coast and South Florida and food for the nation.

The people in the Glades do not have to apologize for anything, its resources or the tax dollars that are collected by the State of Florida. In fact, the only thing we need is additional housing to accommodate the vast labor force that is needed to harvest the crops in the Glades area. Beyond this need, we have the best of all worlds.

The bad publicity that is being printed and aired about AIDS came about because some unqualified persons made statements about the number of cases of AIDS in the area and their uneducated guess about how the disease is contracted and transmitted.

I would like to quote from "FACTS ON AIDS" as printed by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, on WHO GETS AIDS...This information reads as follows: "a) Sexually active homosexual and bisexual men with multiple sex partners, this group accounts for 70 percent of all reported cases. b) Present or past users of intravenous drugs, 17 percent. c) Haitians entrants into the United States, 4 percent. d) Patients who have been transfused with blood or blood products, 1 percent e) Steady sexual partners of persons with AIDS, or persons in high risk of AIDS, 1 percent."

I am very sure that this information is available to the News Media, if they were interested in facts about the disease or had compassion for the seriousness of the effects articles like those being printed about our community. The school children have been harassed as a result of the news paper articles and the TV reports.

Governor Bob Graham has spent much time and many tax dollars to sell Florida's and Palm Beach County to the tourist. The news media seems to be working against his efforts, or they are so short-sighted, they can't realize when they zoom in on Belle Glade with bad publicity they are putting our county in jeopardy. The Western part of the county will not hurt financially by bad publicity, we do not depend on tourist dollars for our survival.

The citizens in western Palm Beach County have turned the other cheek for many years of the local and national vicious attacks by the news media. WHY? With friends like these people...who needs enemies? Signed, Jewel A. Crane

The beauty of this place

One of my favorite topics is the beauty of the Glades area.

We've talked about sunsets and the incredible green of endless sugarcane fields.

Beauty comes in smaller packages too. This time of year mockingbirds lay two to three sky blue eggs. Their nests are usually built in citrus or other trees with thorns to thwart the unwanted attention of humans or cats.

For those foolish enough to venture in anyway, the mockingbird will swoop in to fearlessly defend its home and hearth.

The mockingbird, Florida's state bird, is a good parent and provider.

The other day, I saw a mockingbird catch an insect on the fly.

It was late afternoon and the hapless insect glinted in the sun as it leaped for its life before winding up in mama bird's beak. One more meal for the ever-hungry hatchlings.

Hatchlings are everywhere. I have them in my back yard and outside the office.

Not everyone appreciates the gray, black, and white-colored mimic, however.

The other day, I heard something hitting the wall and I walked outside. Other than four little boys lurking behind a car, there was nothing unusual going on.

This time, the boys quickly left at my invitation. I've since noticed the hatchlings are gone too.

Every now and then my daughter and I like to get the bicycles out, knock off the rust from the bike, not the old man and go for a ride.

I have a sneaking suspicion Christine is really hoping she gets to see me do another of my acrobatic tricks. Like the time a woman came roaring out of an alley in a pickup. I laid the bike on its side and on it all in one quick motion.

You never know when your reactions are until you have to avoid becoming a crepe suzette.

The woman in the pickup was okay too. She just kept on roaring down the highway. Guess she wasn't had at me since I hadn't scratched her truck or smeared any blood on it.

Motorists are for the most part considerate and predictable. It's the dogs you worry about. Whenever a dog chases me, my blood pressure and paranoia shoot up at the same time.

Usually though, the dog gets satisfaction out of seeing a little bit of terror in the eyes of the crazy human on a bike, and will walk to his yard laughing over his little joke.

Jim Whitehead was in peak form Sunday announcing the Miami Dolphins - Clewiston Fraternal Order of Police game at Clewiston's Cane Field.

Jim Jensen hit a homer that sailed through the goal posts at the far end of the field and Joe quickly called it a three point play.

That was a highlight. On the other end of the spectrum, however, was Joe's singing of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game".

Really, Joe. Anybody who is brave enough to sing to the whole town with that voice gets an A for moral courage.

But Barry Manilow you're not...

Package liquor store request heard by commission

BELLE GLADE—City commissioners this week heard a request to establish an "alcoholic beverage area" on the northeast corner of South Main Street and Avenue D.

At the regular Commission meeting Monday there was discussion as to whether the proposed "beverage area" met with city regulations regarding distances from certain types of buildings.

Commissioners had planned to hold a special meeting with petitioner Thomas W. Bonavia Tuesday.

But upon verification that the "beverage area" is within the legal limits, commissioners decided to proceed with the initial steps of putting the zoning change before the public.

The proposed zone change would allow the construction of a "package liquor store" building.

In his request, Bonavia said the proposed building will not be a lounge, but will dispense frozen drinks such as daiquiris.

The drinks will be served in a cup and are, according to Bonavia, "considered consumable without opening a package."

The city has determined the property is not within 300 feet of any church building, school, nursing home or any other type of business which would be adversely affected by this business.

The zoning change will come up for its first reading July 8. At that time anyone wishing to dispute this change can present their argument to the city.

In other business, the commissioners took action on the following:

—Heard the first reading of an ordinance permitting child day care centers in residential zones.

The question of day care centers arose about two months ago. Since then Wee Care, the original petitioner, has not pursued its request for a zoning change.

The proposed ordinance would make it possible for any day care center to bring a request to the city and each would be decided case by case.

—Agreed to go along with Palm Beach County on the Inter-local Agreement on gasoline taxes.

Under the agreement, the formula for the funds distribution will remain the same. The county is considering raising the gasoline tax from 2-cents to 4-cents.

—Heard a request from the Police Department for five street lights to the latest addition to Arrowhead Estates.

The section is almost full of trailers.

—Mayor Thomas Altman asked the city manager to put together a list of those things which can be handled administratively. The mayor believes some things routinely taken up by the Commission can be handled at workshop meetings.

—Hired a special lead mechanic.

Heard a reading of an ordinance dealing with water shortage plans. The ordinance was requested by the Water Management District to be used in case of a shortage.

West County mental health clinic open house set

West County Mental Health Clinic will be hosting an open house to acquaint all interested residents of the Glades area with the Clinic's facilities and programs.

The open house will take place at the Clinic's main office, 1204 N.W. Avenue D, Belle Glade, June 28, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Light refreshments will be served.

The Clinic staff will be available to conduct visits we provide. "I think people will be surprised at the scope of our programs," Amato said.

The Clinic recently moved its main office to 1204 N.W. Avenue D. The relocation was made possible by the County Commission's leasing the former Health Department property and facilities to Mental Health on a 99 year lease," Amato said.

Joseph Amato, Executive Director stated that he hoped for a good turnout of interested residents so that the public would be better informed about the Clinic, who we serve and what services we provide.

"As a result, the Clinic now has a permanent home, a separate building for children's services and will be able to utilize the undeveloped portion of the property for future construction of additional facilities," Amato continued.

The cost of renovating the existing facilities represented a substantial burden for the Clinic's finances. "Amato said," however, the cost was minimized by the donated inmate labor provided through Glades Correctional Institution Superintendent Randy Music and his staff.

The donation of inmate labor was further made possible by the assistance of the Belle Glade Police Department who transported the inmates to and from the work site.

The Board of Directors and staff of the Clinic are deeply appreciative of the assistance provided by

Woman dies in crash

BELLE GLADE—A 21-year-old Belle Glade woman was killed Tuesday morning when she lost control of her car and slid into a canal.

The Florida Highway Patrol reports Elba Inez Cotto, 21, of 554 SE 5th Street, was killed in a one-car accident about 7 a.m. Tuesday about a mile south of Belle Glade on Duda Road Extension.

Police say the woman was driving a 1985 Dodge. She was traveling north and apparently lost control of her car.

She slid into a canal. The car landed on its roof. Cotto was the only person in the car.

The light for today's world

The advance from the olive lamp to the laser rays of today has been great. Lighting experts can light up a football or baseball field like day. Work is being done on lights to burn off fog so that airplanes can land.

Doctors are removing darkness about the human body and mind. By use of X-rays, cardiograms, encephalograms, and myelograms they can tell us what is inside the body, how a heart is doing and the condition of the vertebrae. Microscopes can analyze blood.

The light of knowledge has come a long way. However, our knowledge is mostly scientific and mechanical. On how to live together with families, as husbands and wives, as neighbors, there is a great darkness.

On how to live, how to avoid evil, sin, how to be clean, honest, straight forward, pure and wholesome there is great darkness.

Jesus says to Christians, "You are the light of the world." He who is the light of the world says to us "If you follow me you will never be in the darkness but shall have the light of life."

Those who in the gospel have received not only light and knowledge and instruction, but also the light has become a part of them. The Christian because of his relationship with Christ has received and has become a partaker of the divine nature.

God is light and in Him is no darkness. Christ Himself is that light and is the light which is the Christian.

In effect Christ says, "My father and I will live in your life." God who is light is in us and therefore it can be said of you that you are the light of the world.

The light or lamp has as its primary function to dispel darkness. When light comes into a dark place that which is in darkness is exposed.

Christ exposes the darkness of the world. Under the cloak of darkness many things happen. We need the light of Christ to show our degenerate nature, and the state of sin we live in.

As He then becomes a part of our lives then we can bring light to other. Light is not appreciated by the selfish and evil. When Christ confronted the Pharisees they hated him because he was pure. His purity made them see themselves as they really were.

Light not only exposes darkness but provides a way out. Knowledge, education and political enactment and international conferences have been tried. The answer is Christ. Christ says you must be born again to have the light. We must love the light of Christ and hate darkness.

Dr. David T. Evans
Everglades Presbyterian Church

The way is to know and love the one person called Jesus of Nazareth. He has taken away our guilt and offers us a new life and a new nature. He makes us new men with new desires, a new outlook, and a new orientation.

The lamp or light in our lives is not to be hidden. Just as the city built on a hill cannot be hid, Christ has made us to do something and not to hide. Our whole function is to give light. There is no such thing as a Christian who does not act as light to the world. The Christian who hides his light is like the salt which has lost its flavor.

Someone has said this kind of Christian "has enough Christianity to spoil everything else but not enough to give him real happiness, peace, and joy, and abundance of life." He is really pathetic. He is neither of the world nor a Christian.

If we have a tendency to put the light of our Christianity under a basket, then we ought to examine it to see if it is really a light or the work of the devil.

Finally, we are to let our light so shine that men may see our good works and glorify our Father who is in heaven.

Our lives reveal God to the world and we spread light when we reflect this light which we have because we have Christ in our lives. We are to do this so that it will not call attention to ourselves but to God.

If we live in Christ then we are the light of the world. Then we will want to light up that part of the world with which we come in contact, and at the time give God the praise and the glory.

Learning to swim is a fun experience with Cindy Ravis

BY GENE ANTONIO

BELLE GLADE—We all share a common childhood experience. For some the recollection brings smiles, for others it brings shudders. Think back and recall when you learned to swim (or tried to learn to swim.)

Was it a pleasant experience or did the thought of getting into a pool make you wish you could sink away from the water's edge and become invisible?

For 12 years swimming instructor Cindy Ravis has taught children and adults to swim.

In those years she has come to realize that patience and gaining the trust of her students are keys to success.

She says she's had about a 98 percent success rate. But she admits she won't take on some would-be swimmers because they're just too nervous and frightened.

Her youngest students are about three years old. Ravis believes children younger than three cannot really benefit from lessons.

Also, Ravis believes the current popularity of teaching new-born and very young infants to swim has limited benefits.

She says, "What they're doing is instinctive and automatic. They aren't really learning to swim in the same sense as older children."

The instructor also says new-born infants would not have the strength in their arms to get out of the water to save themselves. Also, "success" is related to their ability to hold their breath for longer periods than older children or adults.

Ravis gets her best results working with children about four or five years old. Usually children that age have not developed the fear of water many adults have.

But some are so terrified by water they can't be taught. Ravis advises parents to work with these children and bring them back for lessons when they're more accustomed to water.

Many elements of the two-week lessons take the form of games. Students receive encouragement to feel at home in the water and to trust their own abilities.

Ravis is emphatically against the long-held theory of "sink or swim" in which a child is thrown into the water.

Many times this causes more harm than it does good, she believes. She has seen a number of children become terrified at the prospect of being thrown into the middle of a pool.

Ravis, the former Cindy McKee, recently moved to Tampa. Last week she came back to Belle Glade to give two weeks of lessons.

Upon arrival she faced a problem. The private pool she had reserved was no longer available.

Just as she was about to cancel the summer's lessons Robert Strickland, manager of the Belle Glade Motor Inn, offered the motel's pool for the two weeks.

Ravis comments, "I don't know what we'd have done if it weren't for Mr. Strickland."

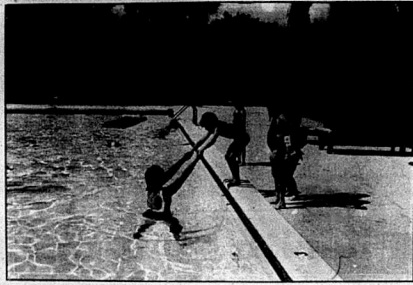

The former Belle Glade resident taught elementary school for a number of years here. She now teaches in Tampa.

Ravis prefers teaching younger students to swim. She's found that adults are much more frightened of water.

But even four-year-olds can be frightened. Ravis says the fear is put in children by adults who themselves are afraid of water.

With patience and understanding, though, most students are swimming within two weeks.

They are given tests which bolster their confidence and let them say to themselves and anyone who will listen, "Yes, I really know how to swim."

ASSISTANT INSTRUCTOR Rosa Hernandez holds onto a future swimmer.

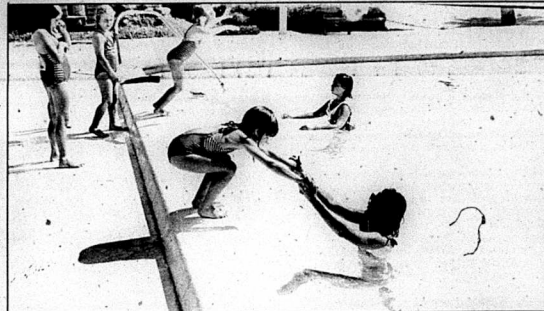

CINDY RAVIS holds a young student at the lessons held for two weeks at the pool at the Belle Glade Motor Inn.

does the fishermen. The water in and around Bay Bottom, Winnie's Cove, Grassy Island, Long Point, South Shore and Rita is about 18" deep; big bass boats are having a real hard time in these areas. Small John boats and rental boats with small motors can move at will and are catching some real good fish on crawdads, worms and top water lures.

If you are "brave" fishermen, who are wading these areas are having a great time catching bluegill, shell cracker, and small bass.

Keep this in mind snook are schooling and are off limits to fishermen until Aug. 1st. If you happen to land one of these rod breaking monsters "Release it! It's not worth a big fine."

Sam Owens and father with Timmy Stein had 150 shell crackers wading. Glenn Gishaven, W.P.B. and Stewart Stein had a good catch of 20 bass.

Ken Bowmaster, this past week had 2-8 pounds, 2-7 pounds, 3-6 pounds, 4-5 pounds. Joe Scott and Bob Davis had a limit of bluegill in two hours. Until next week, safe boating and good luck fishing.

Lyman receives Naval Academy appointment

"RICKY" LYMAN

BELLE GLADE —Arthur Richard Lyman IV, son of Loraine and Richard Lyman III, has received an appointment to the Naval Academy.

The Glades Day School graduate will report to Annapolis, Maryland, Monday to begin four years of education and military training.

Lyman decided to seek a nomination to the Academy last June. His appointment came through Congressman Tom Lewis.

The young man chose the Navy because he wants to become a pilot.

He also plans to try for either the rowing team or the football team.

The future midshipman explains that students must participate in at least one sport.

After four years of training Lyman will be commissioned as a second lieutenant. He must then serve five years in the U.S. Navy.

The first weeks at the Academy will be spent in a basic training type of environment. Trainees are not eligible for leave until Christmas.

The young man is anxious to begin his education. He sees his appointment as a "great opportunity."

Summer program underway at city library

BELLE GLADE The Belle Glade Municipal Library will be having a children's summer program starting June 24. The theme is "Footloose in Florida."

The three, four and five year old children can attend the program on Tuesdays at 11 a.m. or Wednesdays at 1 p.m.

Ages six, seven, and eight can participate on Wednesdays at 11 a.m. or Thursdays at 1 p.m. and children ages nine and 10 can come on Thursdays at 11 a.m. or Tuesdays at 1 p.m.

Children are to pick one time a week to attend. Each program will vary according to the age group.

Stories, finger plays, flannel board stories, movies, film strips and arts and crafts will be offered.

The programs begin on time and last approximately one hour.

BRITNI HERICK

Tot wins Miss Star Brite Contest

BELLE GLADE—Britni Herick, 14 month old daughter of Jeff and Carol Herick of Belle Glade, won the title of Miss Star Brite, Sunday, June 23. The competition was held in Okechobee.

She had a perfect 9 and 10 score based on beauty, poise, charm and personality. She won her entry fee paid to the State Pageant where she will be in the television commercial category.

Britni will also be in the U.S.A. Sunburst National pageant held in Atlanta, Ga. in August. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Corbett of Belle Glade.

Baptists to honor retiring pastor

The First Baptist Church of South Bay will honor their pastor, Rev. Paul Murray and his wife Betty, with a covered dish luncheon following the morning worship service, Sunday, June 30th.

Rev. Murray has announced his retirement from the ministry after nearly 44 years, effective July 1st. He has been the pastor in South Bay for 6 and one-half years. All friends of the church are invited to attend.

South Bay minister to step down

Reverend Paul Murray has announced his retirement from the ministry, effective July 1st. He has been pastored churches for nearly 44 years and served as pastor at the First Baptist Church of South Bay for the past six and one-half years. All friends of the church are invited to a covered dish dinner following the morning worship service, Sunday, June 30th, honoring Rev. and Mrs. Murray.

Atlantic - Pacific Insurance relocates

BELLE GLADE—Atlantic Pacific Insurance has moved its offices from NW Avenue L to the plaza at 1100 North Main Street.

Jeff Hooker, owner of the local independent office, anticipates streamlined efficiency at the new office with the installation of a computer system within three months. Atlantic Pacific Insurance, with its main office in West Palm Beach, handles all major types of insurance, including auto, home, business and health.

The company represents USF&G, American States, Great American, INA, CNA, Independent

Fire and others. Hooker, who holds a degree in real estate and insurance from Florida State University, has been in the insurance business for about 10 years.

Born and raised in Belle Glade, he started out in the business selling insurance from his apartment. He comments, "We started out from scratch." The business has grown. Hooker says API is among the top four insurance providers in the city.

The independent agent is confident his customers will benefit from his new location. He believes it is the most up-to-date office in Belle Glade. Hooker has seen the insurance business change in the past 10 years. He says, "Today it's a different ball game."

Some of the changes involve the increased number of law suits and the high claims being paid out. He believes the changes taking place in the insurance business at the present are the most drastic changes in history.

Working with the local agent at the new Dino's Shopping Plaza location are Becky White, who handles commercial accounts, and Sandy Ruby, who works with personal accounts.

Favorite recipes of area lawmen

Baked mourning dove

Hendry County Sheriff Sermon Dyess and his wife enjoy fixing this dish, which was handed down to him by his mother.

Ingredients

12 doves
Flour
Salt
Pepper
Celery
1/4 cup cooking oil

Clean doves and roll them in flour, seasoning them with salt and pepper.

In a skillet, heat oil and fry doves whole. After browning doves, place breast up in a 320 degree oven and bake for one hour.

Make gravy out of the dove's livers and gizzards by boiling the organs in a pan on top of the stove.

Remove organs out of their juices and add grease from the baked doves.

Thicken the gravy with flour, add celery for flavor and pour over birds.

Serve doves with vegetables and rice.

Ham and onion omelette

Mike Miller, who was promoted to Belle Glade Chief of Police approximately one year ago, dreamed up this recipe while in his bachelor years because he was tired of eating hamburgers.

MIKE MILLER

Ingredients

3 eggs
Half an onion, finely diced
A good portion of boiled or cooked ham

1 green pepper, finely diced
Margarine
Black pepper
Salt
Tobasco sauce

Beat eggs in a bowl.

In a frying pan, saute onions, ham, and green pepper, in one tablespoon margarine. Season with two dashes of tobasco sauce, a heavy portion of black pepper and a light dash of salt.

Add eggs to the sauted mixture and stir until ready to serve.

Pan fried chicken

Pan fried chicken is Clewiston Chief of Police Robert Dysart's favorite recipe. Dysart has been Clewiston's Chief of Police since April '80.

Chief Dysart says the best way to make the chicken is with a wood burning cookstove, but that a small charcoal grill will do just as nicely. He also said that leftover wings taste great cold or can be heated up by a microwave oven.

Ingredients

Safflower or Sunflower Seed Oil
Garlic cloves
12 to 48 chicken wings
Salt
Coarse ground black pepper
Rosemary leaves
Thyme leaves

Flour chicken wings and season them with salt and pepper.

Place an iron skillet on a small charcoal grill allowing 1/2 inch oil to heat in the skillet.

Add a generous amount of cut garlic cloves to the oil.

Place floured chicken wings in the skillet, browning them evenly.

Heat an electric roaster between 300 to 350 degrees. (Do not exceed 350 degrees.)

Also, remember to place one fourth of an inch of water in the bottom of the roaster.

Place chicken on roaster's wire rack along with a generous amount of rosemary and thyme leaves.

Allow the chicken to cook for approximately one hour before serving.

ROBERT DYART

A quick and easy newly wed meal

Starters' Stir-Fry, developed in The Lipton Mix-ins, adds an Oriental touch to that first meal. A nutritious combination of green peppers, beef strips and water chestnuts is perfectly seasoned with a light sauce of instant onion soup mix, brown sugar, cornstarch and ground ginger. The instant onion soup mix eliminates chopping and measuring of onions, leaving you more time to spend with your spouse.

Pound out the menu with hot chicken noodle soup, hot cooked rice, orange sherbet and hot tea. Don't forget the fortune cookies!

For a great addition to your cookbook collection, send for the colorful new 32-page cookbook, "Cooking With Ease...Recipes from Lipton® Cup-a-Soup," full of time-saving meals and quick tips. Just send your name, address and zip code along with $5.50 to cover postage and handling (checks made payable to Thomas J. Lipton, Inc. - no stamps or coins please) to: Cooking With Ease, P.O. Box 7861-MR, Clinton, LA 52736. Please allow 6 to 8 weeks for delivery.)

Starters' Stir-Fry

1 tablespoon oil	2 envelopes Lipton®
medium green pepper, cut	Onion Cup-a-Soup
into thin strips	2 teaspoons brown sugar
1/2 pound boneless sirloin	1 teaspoon cornstarch
steak or boneless chicken	1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
breasts, cut into thin strips	1/2 cup water
1 can (8 oz.) whole water chest-	Hot cooked rice
nuts, drained and sliced

In large skillet or wok, heat oil and cook green pepper 1 minute. Add beef and cook, stirring frequently, 2 minutes. Add water chestnuts and instant onion soup mix, sugar, cornstarch and ginger blended with water. Cook, stirring frequently, 1 minute or until sauce is thickened. Serve with hot rice. Makes 2 servings.

Scout honored for jamboree work

BELLE GLADE—If a boy scout handed out merit badges for salesmanship, scout Michael Crist would be at the top of the list.

The local scout, son of Dan and Cherie Crist, sold $651 worth of tickets to this year's Scout-O-Rama—more than all of his fellow scouts combined.

The member of troupe 622 had the highest total in sales of any scout in the seven county area of the Gulf Stream Boy Scout Council.

Of the $819 sold in tickets to the Scout-O-Rama held at West Tech last month, Michael sold all but $168 worth.

This is the second year in a row the Glades Day School student has excelled in salesmanship.

For his efforts Michael received a television set, tape recorder, and a new uniform.

He also received council patches from throughout the United States.

He received similar prizes last year.

The young man is not only big on salesmanship, but big on scouting too.

He started out as a Cub Scout and has been a Boy Scout for four years.

Michael has his sights set on becoming an Eagle Scout. To do that he must earn a number of patches before his 18th birthday.

He's not worried. Accomplishing things under a deadline suits him fine.

He sold the Scout-O-Rama tickets between March 23-May 11.

The scout stationed himself outside a supermarket in Belle Glade and used a selling approach which combines persistence, a pleasant attitude, and a bit of aggressiveness.

The 16 year old comments that potential ticket buyers who said they didn't plan to attend the Scout-O-Rama, were told to buy a ticket and give it to a friend.

He says, "Most of the time it worked."

It must have. He was top salesman for Palm Beach, Hendry, Glades, Martin, Okeechobee, and Indian River Counties.

Air-dropped eggs aren't necessarily scrambled

LOCAL SCOUTS took part in a project Friday in which they wrapped eggs, which were then dropped from a helicopter at Clewiston High School. They found that some of the eggs survived the impact.

THE USSC HELICOPTER takes off, ready to begin dropping the packages.

SINKING HIS TEETH into his work, this boy anxiously works to find if his egg is saved or scrambled.

SWEET DREAMS FROM UNITED

You won't know it's happening, but a United telephone computer may be testing your telephone line while you sleep. Each night, special computerized equipment checks United Tel lines to make sure they're working properly. Then, if anything is less than perfect, employees are able to test and repair the problem, usually before you notice it. This is just one of the ways that United Tel is making sure your telephone service remains one of the best values in your monthly budget.
